Loren Eiseley:
THE UNEXPECTED UNIVERSE

The poet W. H. Auden wrote “Dr. Eiseley happens to be an archaeologist, an anthropologist, and a naturalist, but, if I understand him rightly, the first point he wishes to make is that in order to be a scientist, an artist, a doctor, a lawyer, or what-have-you, one has first to be a human being.” We will explore several of Eiseley's literary gems about the human place in an “unexpected universe.”
